

National Environmental Laboratory Accreditation Conference

THIRD ANNUAL MEETING

JULY 28 - 31, 1997

WYNDHAM ANATOLE HOTEL
DALLAS, TEXAS

Co-Sponsored by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission in cooperation with the States, Territories, and other Federal Agencies.

NATIONAL ENVIRONMENTAL LABORATORY ACCREDITATION CONFERENCE

NELAC III ISSUES / PLANS

By the end of the NELAC III Annual Meeting, national uniform standards for environmental laboratory accreditation should be in place. The committee chairs of the standing committees expect passage of all standards during the NELAC III voting session. The following standards are being proposed:

- Chapter 1, Program Policy and Structure;
- Chapter 2, Proficiency Testing; and
- Chapter 6, Accrediting Authority.

In addition, those portions of the following standards, which were not presented for vote in the last Annual Meeting (July 1996), are being proposed:

- Chapter 3, On-site Assessment;
- Chapter 4, Accreditation Process; and
- Chapter 5, Quality System.

Upon approval of the standards the state and federal accrediting authorities can begin adopting the standards into their own accreditation program. To facilitate this process the Transition Ad Hoc Committee will present an operational plan during the meeting. In addition, the Implementation Committee will report on the information gained from the National Council of State Legislators and the next steps to assist states in adopting the NELAC standards.

Other Business

The Field Measurements Ad Hoc Committee will discuss the need and criteria for certification of field samplers, and evaluate the need for standing committee status. The Conference Management Committee will address the potential co-sponsors for the upcoming Interim Meeting and next year's Annual Meeting, including the possibility of exhibitors. The Membership and Outreach Committee will work on expanding the distribution of information on NELAC to all interested parties.

NOTE: This is your opportunity to propose and consider your issues directly with the various committees.

BACKGROUND

The National Environmental Laboratory Accreditation Conference (NELAC) is a voluntary association of state and federal agencies established to develop uniform accreditation standards. NELAC voting members include state and federal agencies. Other stakeholders (contributors) may provide input at all stages of the process. A federally chartered advisory board, the Environmental Laboratory Advisory Board, provides consensus advice from a wide range of private sector interests.

NELAC will operate as follows:

- States and federal agencies adopt standards and serve as accrediting authorities;
- The accrediting authority may contract with a third party to perform all or part of the assessment;
- A multi-government team will evaluate states and federal accrediting authorities;
- All participating NELAP-approved accrediting authorities agree to accept reciprocity; and
- Laboratories seek accreditation within their state, if available.

- Is your accreditation program accepted nationwide?
- Do you want your compliance data accepted by all environmental regulatory bodies?
- Do you want to avoid costly laboratory inspections with differing requirements?
- Do you want to know which laboratories are competent to perform analyses for your industry?
- Do you want to participate in the development of regulations that are practical, effective, and cost efficient?

ADDITIONAL OPPORTUNITY

On March 28, 1997, EPA proposed an initiative to streamline its water methods approval program (62 FR 14976) by expanding method flexibility and expediting the method approval process for wastewater and drinking water methods approved in 40 CFR parts 136 & 141. This initiative will implement a performance-based approach to environmental measurements under the Clean Water Act and Safe Drinking Water Act. The goal of streamlining is to facilitate early introduction of new and innovative technologies that may reduce costs, overcome analytical difficulties, improve laboratory safety, and enhance data quality, while reducing the regulatory burden imposed by prescriptive methods.

EPA STREAMLINING PUBLIC MEETING AUGUST 1, 1997 ♦ 8:00 AM - 1:00 PM

- No charge to attend - please indicate yes on NELAC III Annual Meeting Registration form.
- Agenda includes: Brief overview of streamlining initiative followed by participant comments and questions.
